

REVENGE SOUGHT AT PISTOL'S POINT

Young Shackelford Seeks to Kill
Man Suspected of Shooting
Father.

BYSTANDERS INTERFERE

Natus Walker in Custody of U.
S. Marshal When Life Is Threatened.

Gloucester Courthouse, Va., June 13.—The shooting Sunday evening from ambush of Munsell Shackelford, told in to-day's Times-Dispatch, was followed this morning by an exciting scene at Gloucester Courthouse, when Charles Shackelford, son of the wounded man, tried to kill Natus Walker, who is suspected of being the assassin of his father. It is said that Munsell Shackelford was instrumental in having Walker indicted for the illicit sale of liquor, and also that Shackelford had told Walker that the United States marshal was coming for him on Monday. Walker was heard to say, it is alleged, that he intended to kill Shackelford.

This fact led to the excitement at Gloucester Courthouse to-day. Charles Shackelford, Munsell's son, was maddened by the thought of his aged father's suffering, pointed his pistol at Walker, who was seated in a carriage in front of the hotel, together with the United States marshal, the jailer and the driver.

Mr. Whoof, who was standing near Shackelford, jerked the pistol out of his hands. Shackelford then rushed to his buggy and, catching up a Winchester rifle, started for Walker again. A number of men, however, caught hold of Shackelford, and held him until the United States marshal drove out of town with his prisoner.

This was young Shackelford's second attempt to shoot Walker. The first one occurred at Walker's house this morning, when he demanded to know of Walker what he was doing at 8 o'clock Sunday evening. Walker replied that he was shooting foxes. Only the interposition of the United States marshal and others prevented his assaulting Walker.

There is very little hope for the recovery of Munsell Shackelford. There is intense indignation in the county over the deed, and sympathy for Mr. Shackelford and his family.

Mr. Shackelford is one of the best known men in Gloucester, and is a member of a large and influential connection.

ALL ARE BOOSTING FOR BETTER ROADS

North Carolina Association
Opens Two Days' Meeting at Winston-Salem.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Winston-Salem, N. C., June 13.—The North Carolina Good Roads Association opened a two-days' session here to-day. President J. L. Patterson, in his annual address, said he longed for the time when the entire South would be linked by a system of well-located and properly drained and surfaced roads. He spoke enthusiastically of the increasing sentiment in favor of good roads in this State.

Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, secretary, in his report, reviewed the work of the association since its organization ten years ago. The attendance upon the annual meetings has grown from three to 360.

Regret was expressed that Senator Lee S. Overman was unable to be present and address the convention. Executive Chairman John S. Small, one of the greatest good roads enthusiasts in the State, and deeply interested in all transportation problems, in his address, declared the good roads movement to be the greatest economic movement in North Carolina.

At this afternoon's session, President H. B. Vamer, of the Central Highway, declared this to be the biggest undertaking ever entered into in North Carolina, but he predicted that it would be built. The proposed highway extends from Newbern to Asheville, running through fifteen counties, a total distance of 450 miles.

Encouraging reports were made by President Fred N. Tate, of the Tripartite Highway; Dr. Joseph Pratt, of the Great East of the Blue Ridge Highway; and Leonard Tuffin, on the Capital-to-Capital route.

A telegram was read from President A. J. McKinnon, giving assurance that the Charlotte-Wilmington highway would be built. Dr. Pratt stated that the Great of the Blue Ridge highway would be 100 miles from Blowing Rock to Asheville, and that the grade would not exceed four and three-fourths inches.

The association has a full day's program for to-morrow.

Recount Completed.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Suffolk, Va., June 13.—The contest and recount of the vote cast in the Democratic primary of May 25 was completed this evening. The majority of Baker is reduced from twenty-four to twenty-one, and the majority of R. C. Norfleet, for commissioner of the revenue, is increased from four to eight. There was a total vote of 1,600.

Stomachs Cannot—New Relief for Stomach Upsets.

Everybody likes to eat and eat heartily. It's natural; it's necessary to keep the body in shape. But the trouble is we do not digest what we eat—ninety per cent. of the people in this country do not properly digest food, and as many suffer the tortures of indigestion. There is a relief—a certain remedy for stomach disorders—it is the new medi-

VIRGINIA EAGLES MEET IN HAMPTON

Believed That Richmond Will Capture Next Year's Convention.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Hampton, Va., June 13.—With delegates present from all of the nineteen series in the State, the Virginia Grand Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, convened here to-day at noon in sixth annual convention. It is said that the attendance is the largest in the history of the Grand Aerie.

The visitors were welcomed here by Mayor Thornton F. Jones, of Hampton; Mayor L. P. Furness, of Phoebus; C. W. Stanglen and C. V. Sprattley, and the residents were made by Grand Worthy Conductor E. R. Fuller, of Richmond, and Grand Worthy President of Virginia J. B. Graves, of Clifton Forge. This afternoon the business session of the aerie was devoted to secret work. To-night the Eagles were the guests of the Newport News Nest, with a trolley ride and banquet.

It is believed that Richmond will be selected as the meeting place for next year and that J. B. Graves will be chosen the grand worthy president. Tomorrow 3,000 Eagles are expected here for the parade. Richmond Aerie will send down $500 on a special train.

COPIOUS RAIN FALLS, MAKING FARMERS HAPPY

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Arvonla, Va., June 13.—The long expected drought was fully broken here last night when copious rains fell, accompanied with a vivid electrical display. Within the past week 2.13 inches of rain have fallen, in spite of the extremely dry weather for the past month, crops are looking remarkably well, corn having grown greatly within the past week.

Wheat harvest commenced this week, and will continue for ten days. While growing wheat is short, the heads are well filled, and farmers are hoping for an average crop.

The twenty members of the local Alfalfa Club are making all possible preparation for the seeding of their crop later on in the summer. Almost every variety of soil will be experimented with, and it is thought that success will accompany the experiments. There are over fifty members of the corn clubs in Buckingham county, all of whom are faithfully working an acre of land under the direct supervision of men in the employ of the government.

Dies of Heart Failure.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Buena Vista, Va., June 13.—Howard Patterson, while sitting in one of the tents of a carnival company which is playing here this week, died of heart failure to-day. He was sitting next to one of the local policemen, and with a word of warning fell over in his arms. He was moved to a tent which was empty at the time, and a doctor was called. He breathed twice after the doctor arrived. He was forty years of age and is survived by his mother. He was an employee of the furnace, and worked this morning.

FALLS FROM POLE, FRACTURES SKULL

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Goldsboro, N. C., June 13.—A serious accident occurred at the City Fire Department headquarters this afternoon, when young David Odum fractured his skull. Odum, who is a son of Dave Odum, one of the drivers, was sliding down one of the poles leading from the engine room to the rooms of the drivers, when he lost his balance and fell on the brick floor below, fracturing his skull and cutting an ugly gash in his head. Though not out of danger, the doctors say they think the boy will live.

COVINGTON HOLDS TOWN ELECTION

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Covington, Va., June 13.—The town election held here to-day resulted as follows: For Mayor, W. E. Redding; Councilmen—M. M. Collins, M. F. Norris, J. R. Gilmore, W. C. Wright, J. R. Pirkey, W. A. McConkey, G. W. Hundley, Jr., P. A. Harrington. All new members except Hundley and Norris. The election was exciting and hard fought as it was a re-election of candidates for council and four for Mayor.

WOULD HOLD ALL MEETINGS HERE

President Stiff Will Make This Recommendation to Virginia Dentists.

In his annual address before the Virginia State Dental Association, which will begin its annual meeting at the Jefferson Hotel this morning, President Frank W. Stiff, of the city, will recommend that Richmond be chosen as the permanent meeting place for the body. It cannot, of course, be foretold how this recommendation will be viewed. Dr. Stiff believes this the most convenient location, and thinks the work of the body can be more satisfactorily transacted here.

For the first five or six years of its history the association met in Richmond. Then it began to meet elsewhere, and for years did not come to the capital. It did, however, hold its session here in 1905, and was chosen as the 1911 meeting place.

The forty-second annual convention of the association will be called to order by Dr. Stiff in the Jefferson Auditorium at 10 o'clock this morning. Prayer will be offered by Rev. J. N. Latham, D. D., pastor of Centenary Church. Mayor D. C. Richardson will then welcome the meeting to the city.

Morning Business.

Following the roll call of members and the reading of the minutes of last year's meeting, Dr. Stiff will deliver his annual address. Committees will be appointed, dues will be paid, and miscellaneous business will complete the morning session.

Meeting again at 3 o'clock, there will be addresses on subjects pertaining to the profession by a number of dentists. The convention will also hold night sessions. Officers will be elected for the next year at the closing session on Friday afternoon.

An attendance of about 100 members is expected. Various clinics will be given. Dr. George K. Rice, of Richmond, is recording secretary; Dr. M. B. Rudd, also of this city, is assistant secretary; Dr. W. H. Pearson, of Hampton, corresponding secretary, and Dr. W. M. Sturgis, of Norfolk, treasurer.

An amendment was issued to the charter of the Lewis-Miller Drug Company (Inc.), increasing the authorized capital stock from $5,000 to $10,000, and the minimum from $5,000 to $5,000.

SILLS RE-ELECTED

Directors of Business Men's Club Reorganize for New Work.

At a meeting yesterday of the board of directors of the Business Men's Club Neil D. Sils was re-elected president; John Landon, street, first vice-president; Thomas Bryan, second vice-president; Alvin M. Smith, recording secretary; and C. P. Walcott, Jr., secretary and treasurer.

President Sils was authorized to name the standing committee of the club for the new year, and the special committee of three to negotiate as to co-operation between the club and the Chamber of Commerce.

The board was in session for nearly two hours, discussing the various plans for enlarging the work of the club in detail.

Prisoners Escape.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Nashville, N. C., June 13.—Three negroes, Arthur Taylor and John Sample, both charged with larceny, and J. H. Little, charged with burglary, made their escape from the Nashville jail last night. Part of the newly installed plumbing was wrenched away and the Sample boy crawled through the hole and let the other two prisoners out, breaking the lock to the cell door. Little was from Suffolk, Va.

DR. RYLAND RESIGNS AFTER LONG CAREER

Financial Secretary of Richmond
College for the Past Thirty-seven Years.

WEST TABB SUCCEEDS HIM

Trustees Vote on Amendment to Limit Members of Board.
Dr. Smith's Address.

At his request for lighter work, the Richmond College board of trustees yesterday accepted the resignation of Dr. Charles H. Ryland, who, for the last thirty-seven years has been financial secretary of the institution. Dr. Ryland, of Newport News, was elected to succeed him as treasurer and registrar, and Dr. Ryland will remain with the college as secretary and librarian.

The board also passed the amendment recommended by the General Baptist Association of Virginia, providing that the number of trustees shall be not less than twenty-four or more than forty, and that the tenure of office shall be determined according to a resolution passed by the last General Assembly of Virginia, which is as follows:

“As soon as practicable after this amendment goes into effect, the present board of trustees shall be divided into eight classes, each class being as nearly as possible of the same size, every member of the board being assigned to one or the other of these classes. The first class shall hold office for a period of one year; the second for a period of two years; the third for a period of three years, and so on to the end. The relative position of these several classes shall be chosen by lot—slips of paper containing figures in numerical order from one to eight, being deposited in a hat or box, and some representative of each class drawing from such receptacle the slip which indicates according to its number the place of his class in the series. Any vacancies in the board of trustees from time to time shall be filled from a list of persons nominated to it by the Baptist General Association of Virginia through its education board.”

“After the first election all elections by classes shall be for the full term of eight years; but any vacancy occurring during a term shall be filled for the unexpired part of that term.”

New members of the board are elected by the members on recommendation of the Virginia Board of Education which makes ten nominations for each vacancy, from which one is to be selected. Members of the board are eligible to succeed themselves provided they are recommended by the Board of Education. The amendment takes effect next June, after having been duly passed upon by the Corporation Commission.

How College Has Grown.

During the years that have passed since Richmond College came up from a small institution to one of the largest in the State, Dr. Ryland has been in full charge of its finances. When he became financial secretary, the endowment fund was $75,000. To-day it is $340,000. Thirty-seven years ago the college had only 100 students, now, with the Richmond Academy, the finances of which have also been under his control, the matriculates number more than 500. Though he has had charge of all the money of both institutions and has encountered more than one money panic, not a cent of invested money has been lost.

A year ago Dr. Ryland tendered his resignation, but the board referred it to a committee for report at this meeting. Every effort was made to induce Dr. Ryland to remain in his position, and every assistance was offered him. Members of the board expressed their sorrow at losing his services and also their pleasure that he saw fit to remain with the college. A committee was appointed to draw up suitable resolutions of appreciation.

Mr. Tabb, who succeeds Dr. Ryland, is considered particularly well fitted for the position. He graduated from the college several years ago and has since been engaged in work that is directly in line with his new duties. He will take charge of the department July 1.

President's Report.

Reports of the officers were received and complimented. President Bonbright's report showed a decrease in the number of new students due to the fact that the entrance requirements had been raised, but the increase of old students returning far exceeded any previous year, making the aggregate practically the same as last year. He reviewed also the fine in Ryland Hall last Christmas, and

BOY IS KILLED BY LIGHTNING

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Gloucester, Va., June 13.—Harold Smith, age fourteen, son of George Smith, of Jenkins Neck, Guinea, Gloucester county, was struck by lightning and instantly killed last night. He, with his mother, was in an upper room at the time. The mother was knocked senseless, but recovered. The burial took place to-day at the home. The services were conducted by the Rev. P. S. Habel. The body was interred in the Bonsera graveyard.

Officers Elected.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Lynchburg, Va., June 13.—The T. L. Courtney Lodge, No. 125, Knights of Pythias, has elected the following officers for the ensuing six months: Chancellor, A. R. Gardner; Prelate, J. Chancelor; A. R. Gardner; Prelate, J. Chancelor; Master of Work, G. W. Crist; Master at Arms, L. M. Weinstein; Inner Guard, W. P. Morgan; Outer Guard, J. S. Banton.
